NOVEMBER 2026

From Pastor Josh

When elections are around the corner, when we are given a new opportunity at work, or when our children start a new school year, we naturally want to be optimistic. We want to believe that this time, things will finally work out exactly the way we hope.

But I'm here to tell you: prepare to be disappointed.

Prepare to be disappointed in your career, your family members, your teachers, your government officials, and even your church leaders.

Over and over again, the nation of Israel failed to recognize the foolishness of placing their trust in sinful man, human rulers, and their own strength. In Jeremiah 17:5-6, the prophet anticipates God's coming judgment against this very sin in Judah:

> "Thus says the Lord: 'Cursed is the man who trusts in man and makes flesh his strength, whose heart turns away from the Lord. He is like a shrub in the desert, and shall not see any good come. He shall dwell in the parched places of the wilderness, in an uninhabited salt land.'"

This declaration of judgment against sin wasn't a new concept. God warned Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden not to eat the forbidden fruit. To paraphrase Genesis 2:16-17, God told them, "The day you place your trust in the one thing I did not give you, you will surely die." Little did they know that this death under the curse of sin would not be instant. Instead, it would be a series of slow, painful disappointments—a withering of the mind and body, much like a parched plant in a barren land slowly starving to death.

When we place our ultimate hope in people, circumstances, or a specific turn of events, we are bound to be disappointed. All of these things are impacted by the curse themselves. And even if they weren't, they are still not God. It is God who made us. It is God alone who sustains and keeps our life, body and soul.

Too often, when a relationship or a church disappoints us, it drives us not to God, but to search for a different relationship or a new religious experience that we think can better satisfy our needs. How quickly we forget that only God can truly satisfy our deepest longings! Apart from Jesus, disappointment spirals into hopelessness, depression, anxiety (as we constantly anticipate the next letdown), anger, insecurity, and fear. Ultimately, it separates us from God and the blessings He desires to give us.

When you find yourself disappointed, bring your pain and your honest cries to God. He will answer you (Psalm 13). His answer comes with an invitation to trust that His gifts are enough, calling us to see His provision as truly good and life-giving.

Jeremiah 17:7-8 proclaims this good news to everyone who recognizes their need for salvation:

> "Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust is the Lord. He is like a tree planted by water, that sends out its roots by the stream, and does not fear when heat comes, for its leaves remain green, and is not anxious in the year of drought, for it does not cease to bear fruit."

Despite their sin and disappointments, we see God working in the lives of His people to redeem them from the curse of sin, turn their hearts to trust in the Lord, and transform their lives (See Hebrews 11).
Notice that the Christian who relies on the Lord has no reason to be anxious. Yet, we should still expect to face disappointment on this earth. Psalm 73:26 acknowledges this reality: "My flesh and my heart may fail, but God is the strength of my heart and my portion forever."

Even though we continually face trouble and discouragement, our inner spirit is renewed day by day through the gift of the Holy Spirit and the life-giving Word of God. Through faith in Christ's work on the cross, our disappointments become momentary light afflictions compared to the eternal weight of glory in Christ's Kingdom of Grace.

The Holy Spirit gives us eyes to see God's good gifts in the midst of our pain, knowing that the Lord works all things together for the good of those who love Him. In His strength, we can defend ourselves and our families from real danger and falsehood without running away in fear. We even learn to love our enemies and pray for those who let us down. Our lives become characterized not by our disappointments, but by peace, love, joy, and thankfulness. Through Him, even our earthly grief is transformed from bitter despair into living hope (1 Thessalonians 4:13).

Consider the expectations you place on the people and institutions around you. Don't lower your standards; in fact, the eyes of faith demand truth and accountability in line with God's standard, especially from spiritual leaders and earthly rulers. But do not place your ultimate hope in anything less than the good news of Jesus.

When your confidence is firmly rooted in the cross, your life may not be easy—but it will never end in disappointment.

The Pender family would like to give a big thank you to everyone for their generosity and helping make Jake's day special. From helping park cars, kitchen help, food, setting up tables and chairs, cleaning the church, sound booth, music and so many other things behind the scenes. Thank you to the Pastors for helping us get through this difficult time. We have an amazing community and church family and we are so appreciative of that. God is so good and we couldn't ask for better people surrounding us at this time. Thank you!

"And my God will supply every need of yours according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus." - Philippians 4:19

From children to seniors, anyone can pack a shoebox with gifts to bless children in need around the world. These shoeboxes will arrive in more than 170 countries, and a message of the Gospel is shared and children are blessed.

Samaritan's Purse has collected shoebox gifts and delivered them to kids around the world for over 30 years. Each box is an opportunity to delight the heart of a child and share the Good News of Christ with them and their families.

You are invited to pack shoeboxes - as many as you can. Take an empty box and fill them with fun toys, a "wow" item, school supplies and hygiene items. Please remember that your shoebox may be the only gift the child ever receives. So, plan to pack quality items that will last. Most importantly, pray for the child who will receive your gift. You can include a photo and note for your child to make the gift extra special.

There are "how to pack your box" brochures available. Please note the "what NOT to pack" list, which includes SOAP, CANDY, TOOTHPASTE, GUM, SCARY/WAR-RELATED ITEMS, CHOCOLATE OR FOOD, DRINK MIXES, LIQUIDS OR LOTIONS, GLASS CONTAINERS, AEROSOL CANS, ETC.
