From Pastor Ryan....

Continue in what you have learned and have firmly believed… (2 Timothy 3:14)

The reality that schools across the area are now back in session elicits a variety of responses from students. Some experience dread at the thought of heading back to the classroom, full of new people and subjects. Others can't wait to reconnect with the friends that they didn't have much chance to talk with during the summer. Others are simply happy to have something to do after a long summer break. Then there are those who are genuinely excited to be re-engaging in the processes of learning and studying. What kind of student were you?

Lately, I was reading through 2 Timothy. One of Paul's admonitions to Timothy particularly stood out to me. As Paul writes to Timothy, a younger pastor and Paul's mentee in the faith, he tells Timothy to "continue in what you have learned." In this verse, The Greek verb used for "continue" is mene. It is a familiar word that also means "to abide" or "to remain" (John 15). Here the verb is a present active imperative. That means that this command is one that is to be on-going, continuous. It's as if Paul is telling Timothy to "continue to continue to learn." We might summarize it like this: Timothy, be a life-long learner; don't ever stop learning.

When I was an elementary school student, I remember thinking that once you were done with high school - and maybe college, if you were really smart - then you were done learning; you'd have it all figured out. Boy, was I wrong. It seems the more you know, the more you realize how much you don't know. (There's actually a scientific term for this: the Dunning-Kruger Effect states that in our ignorance of a particular area, we often overestimate our knowledge and competence in that area.)

Even after you graduate with a degree, you're still not done learning, are you? Various vocations and employers often require their employees to obtain a certain number of continuing education credits each year. School teachers, doctors and nurses, computer engineers, and farmers, among others, need to keep abreast of the developments and changes that happen within their various fields.

Unfortunately, our attitude is a bit different when it comes to the Word of God. There is a prevailing attitude among Christians that, once we reach a certain point, we graduate and have Christianity all figured out. For some, that point is Confirmation. For others, it's high school graduation. "I've learned all I need to know about God."

As school gets back in session this year, I'd encourage you to register for some continuing education opportunities here at Maranatha. Along with our worship services, we'll have Sunday School for all ages on Sunday morning. On Wednesdays, you have the opportunity to join various Bible Studies, geared for kids, youth, and adults. Throughout the week, there are also Life Groups that meet to study God's Word.

I'll close with this story: I was receiving some continuing education at a youth pastors' retreat last week. The story was shared of a man in his upper 80s who had been a missionary and a Bible translator his entire life. One afternoon, this old man had sat down with the teacher who was presenting this session with us. The aged missionary then proceeded to share with my teacher what the Lord had been teaching him from the Word that morning. If an 80-year-old Bible translator still can learn from Scripture, you and I can as well!

Learning with you,

Pastor Ryan

- Mapping out a sermon series in II Corinthians through the remainder of the year with Pastor Ryan.
- Two funerals were held while Pastor Lloyd was at Summer Institute Training.
- During Institute, classes were scheduled for 6 hours for 4 days. Karl Vader spoke on small churches (Ninety percent of churches are considered small churches; being a church with Sunday attendance under 200 people. Regular attendance used to be considered three times week now it is more like three times a month. Church Influence is made with small numbers not how many but how we are influencing. First impressions are important; greeters are our first impression. Leaders are encouraged to do one of these 4 thing each Sunday:
  1. Greet --- meet someone you don't know.
  2. Introduce --- introduce someone you know to someone else you know but they don't know each other.
  3. Follow Up --- follow up with someone you met last Sunday.
  4. Thanking --- thank someone for a job well done.

Old Business:

- Worship Board will be responsible for the cost of microphone repairs.

New Business:

- Walk through the Bible with Pastor Vern Baardson; we would like to do again sometime after Christmas, schedule for a Friday night/Saturday morning.
- Would like to see several of our men attend Institute of Training.
- Suggestion to hold Congregational meetings in the Fellowship Hall on Wednesday evenings rather than in the sanctuary on Sundays. Tabled for further discussion.
- What is the best way of getting in touch with the Congregation…texting, Facebook, email? Tabled to the next meeting.

Pastor Lloyd closed in prayer. Meeting adjourned.

Next Meeting: Wednesday, September 11th at 8 PM.

Respectfully submitted by Pat Lewis
